

Dear Readers,

Welcome to a new edition of our newsletter.

1. Men temporarily banned from working abroad

Today's press carried the following piece of news. No official announcement has been made yet. We will update our readers if and when new details emerge.

"Ministry of Labour informed that job invitations from abroad for Myanmar men have been temporarily suspended

U Nyunt Win, Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Labour, told NP News that starting from 1st May this month, job invitations for Myanmar men from abroad have been temporarily suspended.

The right of Myanmar men to go abroad to work has reportedly been suspended as required by circumstances.

Permanent Secretary U Nyunt Win said: "It is a temporary suspension. If a demand is submitted and it is a demand for a man, it will not be allowed for the time being. It will not be allowed currently. This is all. We are suspending [the programme] because circumstances require it. This is a programme based on need. If necessary at some point, we will reopen it. So, what I want to say is that there is no need to exaggerate the significance. At the moment, I think that everyone will understand that it is a temporary suspension because this is needed. This is all that I want to say."

Recently, the majority of Myanmar workers have gone to Thailand to work. Malaysia comes second place.

The Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Labour added: "Thailand is the most popular destination for workers. Malaysia comes second, then Japan, and then Korea."

After the SAC government some months ago issued an order to render the National Service Law effective, it has been observed that local young people are more prepared to leave and work abroad.

In addition, some young people who received summonses according to the National Service law are heard to have also left for Thailand illegally."
